

What Makes Partners International Canada Unique?

- It really is all in our name. Partnership is our exclusive focus. Empowering the local work of indigenous ministry organizations is all we have ever done. For more than 60 years, Partners International has enabled local Christians - the people who know their country, culture and the local challenges best - to minister in the very best way possible.
- Many organizations work through nationals. What's different with Partners International is that the locals are the leaders. Local people know what their churches and communities need the most. Canadians partner with them, through us, to make those solutions possible.
- Because partnerships with locally-led ministry organizations is what we do — what we do is rarely the same twice. The Partners world and the projects it represents, is diverse, multi-layered and always appropriate to the local context.
- The Partners International family includes 104 partner ministries working in 57 countries on four continents. Each of these projects is local, carefully researched and planned, and then empowered by the generosity of partners around the world - including thousands of Canadians who have recognized the appropriateness of the Partners model of holistic development.
- Partners International Canada is proudly and distinctively Christian. Our partners pattern their walk on the model of Jesus Christ who proclaimed the Good News, welcomed children, cared for the poor, trained leaders and healed the sick.
- Partners searches the globe for ministries that can benefit from our partnership. We have strict criteria that ministries must meet before we embark on a partnership. Criteria include factors like the appropriateness of the ministry, their potential impact and their need, their internal integrity and leadership and their willingness to enter into a partnership relationship of mutual accountability.
- Partners' child sponsorship works. Child sponsorship funds help send children to school, provides them with school supplies and nutritious meals, and, in the case of Partners, offers girls and boys the opportunity to learn about Jesus Christ. Partners takes the traditional child sponsorship model one step further by offering generous Canadians the opportunity to sponsor seminary students and church planters. Many Canadians have discovered the satisfaction of knowing that the global Church is growing because of their monthly gifts.
