

Free Evangelical Association of Lebanon

LEBANON

Serving the Arab world in word and deed

The small nation of Lebanon sits at the crossroads of the Middle East. With its strategic location and religious freedom, the country enjoys great influence across the Arab world. And Lebanon's history of conflict and violence makes residents open to a message of peace and love.

Winning and training Christians to reach their neighbours

The Free Evangelical Association of Lebanon (FEAL) ministers in this turbulent country in a variety of ways.

- FEAL has 7 missionaries in Lebanon that serve Iraqi refugees, the Druse, Shiite Muslims and Lebanese. These workers have planted 3 churches and carry on a variety of outreach ministries.
 - Under the direction of Alain Farhat, the ministry serves abandoned girls among the Druse population at the Beit El Safa orphanage.
 - Summer camping programs reach children in the surrounding communities at the same site as well as providing training for churches and leaders.
- The ministry is also serving the Arab populations of surrounding nations with the following initiatives.
 - FEAL has 2 missionaries working in Syria, where a new church has recently been planted. A new church has also been planted in Egypt, and a church and Bible training centre have been established in Jordan.
- Three FEAL missionaries in Sudan are working in Khartoum and in the Nouba mountains, and have planted 3 churches in this war-torn country.
